

Deputy City Manager / Water Resource Management Director Terry Lowe

Terry began his service as the city's Deputy City Manager in December 2018. He coordinates the following departments: Community Development; Public Works; and Water Resource Management.

These are the teams that provide the city's building and design standards; manage capital improvement projects; provide sanitation services; maintain city streets; support water and wastewater utilities, while planning for the city's water future.

Terry joined the city of Surprise in 2005 as a member of the Public Works Department where he was successful in managing many city projects, including the construction of City Hall, the Public Safety Facility, and many fire stations. As Director of the Water Resource Management Department, he oversees the Water and Wastewater utilities, the Environmental Division focused on regulatory compliance, and future water planning.

Before joining Surprise, Terry's career included both public and private sector experience.

He holds a Bachelors and a Masters degree in engineering from the Catholic University of America and the University of Maryland respectively.
